Farm Exodus Plans Halted By Rain

Jeanner-Empress Farmers Plan to Re-Seed After Heavy Rainfall

As drenching rains pelted down from the silver clouds all day Monday, farmers in the Jeanner-Empress district gazed with fresh hopes at soaked wheat fields, and planned to re-seed crops that had been ruined by drought, soil drifting, and insect pests.

Cherished by the vagaries weather man's newest promise of a crop, hundreds of farmers who last week were prepared to abandon their farms and trek to northern Alberta, are now imbued with fresh energy and busy with plans for "cutting it out" on the old farm for one more trial.

The crop damage was extensive and estimated as high as 75 per cent in the Jeanner-Empress district before the first rain, which fell Friday night. The moisture is expected to revive some fields, but re-seeding will be necessary over a wide area. Farmers who intend to re-seed will have to apply to the government for seed grain.

Proposals to move to northern Alberta were discussed last week at meetings held in the Bladon, Monticello, Buffalo, and other points. At these meetings farmers told W. C. Smith, M. L. A. for Empress, of their plans to move out of the district following five years of crop failure. Mr. Smith pointed out that it was difficult to find a block of land large enough for those who wished to move, and the only block he knew of was near Smoky River, and this was not large and was somewhat difficult of access. The meetings close, without deciding what to do.

Weekend precipitation brought fresh hopes of a crop, and the Jeanner-Empress district may yet have a good harvest this fall.

An increase of approximately $5,000 was made in the capital investments of the Bassano Municipal Hospital recently through the sale of Dominion bonds and the purchase of Alberta bonds.

The difference, after adjustment of accrued interest, was paid from the hospital bank savings account. The deal was handled by J. E. Muir and Co. Ltd., Lethbridge.

The hospital district also bought $5,000 in Province of Alberta 5 per cent 1940 bonds at 98, and paid for this investment from the proceeds of the redemption of $5,000 provincial savings certificates bearing four and a half per cent interest.

Stone Beds Have No Terrors For Members of Oxford Group

They limped and splashed into Bassano about a rheumatic old car in the heaviest June rainfall in years. It was last Monday afternoon Oxford "Groupers," they were four of them, bound for Banff and the annual house party at the Banff Springs Hotel.

The mountain resort was a long, wet trail distant, their car needed repairs, and they were stiff and tired from the long journey, so the derelict machine was guided into "Shanty" Hutton's garage and it's occupants chose to stay in Bassano until Tuesday morning.

As the rain continued to fall the quartette of travellers was loathe to leave the dry comfort of the garage, and they lingered to enjoy the hospitality of the proprietor until time for the evening meal.

Using a gasoline blow torch for a campfire, the cook of the party soon prepared a hot supper, and the quartette over steaming cups of coffee and thick sandwiches was gay and sparkling.

Night brought the problem of sleeping accommodation. The car was quickly moved when the four Bachmanns spread their blankets on the concrete garage floor and slept in Bassano security.

Morning—and another meal on the long borch cooking appliances. Houghting it outdoors puts a keen edge on the appetite. The car required, everything was stowed away, and the road invited them Banffward.

As the car slithered down the muddy street "Shanty" stroked his chin thoughtfully.

"I wonder," he mused, "where those fellows sleep when they go to Banff Springs Hotel?"

One Inch Rain Revives Crops

Wheat Fields Soaked by Monday's Rainfall—Heavy Precipitation Since 1932

Stimulated by last Monday's heavy rainfall, wheat crops have taken a new lease on life and are now making good growth.

Parched fields which last week were beginning to wither under a scorching sun are now revived and showing promise of a heavy stand.

Falling steadily from shortly after Sunday midnight until late Monday night, the rain brought more than an inch of precipitation.

Rain also fell on Tuesday, and Tuesday night showers fell Wednesday. The heavy rain was preceded by a drizzle on Monday.

According to figures supplied by the C. P. D. N. R., the rainfall from last Friday until today was 1.16 inches at Bassano, 1.37 inches at Lethbridge, 1.54 inches at Calgary, 1.66 inches at Edmonton, and 1.24 inches at Regina.

No figures are available for Crowfoot, Ponoka, Husar, Majorville, or Rosemary, but the rain was general, and these districts received a good supply of moisture.

At many points in Alberta meetings are being held to discuss the Douglas system of economies. Apparently the visit of Major Douglas to this province aroused a great deal of interest, and enquiring persons want to hear more about his system.

A TRIBUTE

To E. F. MAURER
After many years of faithful service of the board of the Bassano Municipal Hospital District, E. F. Maurer has severed official connection with that body.

Mr. Maurer was one of the first to realize the value of a municipal hospital, and he helped organize the district. He was also one of the first hospital board members, and his record in that capacity is one of splendid achievement.

He and his fellow members have built up one of the finest social service institutions in central Alberta and one of the strongest financially. He was responsible for the introduction of many improvements in the hospital and his own judgment was always highly valued by fellow members.

We regret that Mr. Maurer is no longer an official of the hospital district, and we hope that Wilfred Walter, his successor, will fill the vacancy in an able manner.

IT RAINS

Monday's heavy rain came at just the right time. It drove the wheat fields that have been waiting to show signs of distress from the prolonged drought and gave them sufficient moisture to promote excellent growth.

In one day of the heavy rain the plough on various farms was washed away and replaced by a number of pieces of work at satisfaction.

Last week's farmers were not a fortunate lot, and expressed fears of another crop failure. Today the crop situation is favorable and farmers are happy. Such is the sudden change of fortune in southern Alberta's wheat lands.

The rain was the heaviest June precipitation recorded here in six years.

It was a wonderful rain, and will do a world of good.

The Week at Ottawa

(By Dr. W. F. Gierhard, M. P.)

OTTAWA, May 31, 1934. The Companies Act of 1928 sections were revised this week. Many points were brought to light but it seemed to be difficult to get them corrected. Millions of hard earned dollars have been lost owing to fake promotions, high pressure salesmen, and fraudulent sales. Many families have gone into the hands of promoters. These men expended the companies by issuing stock far in excess of the real value of the assets. They themselves reaped the reward but this watered stock had to carry a great capital debt that in poor times dividends were paid.

Years ago business was done by individuals, later partners worked together, and still later small stock companies were formed. Now most business is done by large corporations with thousands of share holders. Without any doubt many sales officers of these big trading firms have been very greedy and grasping. They have taken large salaries themselves regardless of the welfare of the shareholders, the promoters, or the consumers of their product.

The Marketing Act is an act to improve the methods of selling and products of home and abroad. It has been debated for three weeks and many changes have been made in it. A Dominion Board will be set up in Ottawa to regulate the time and place of selling. It will determine the quantity and grade that may be sold and the prohibitive sales.

A number of producers may apply to the minister to set up a scheme for marketing any product. If approved, the local people desire a board and every producer must market through this scheme. The minister may himself set up a scheme in any industry.

The Governor-in-Council may restrict or prohibit the import or export of any commodity concerned. This was opposed as it takes from Parliament the control of the tariff.

The local boards act within a province and the province may decide on the marketing agency. The Dominion Board looks after export and interprovincial trade.

The minister may investigate cost of production, price received between what the grower gets and the consumer pays, trade practices, policies, grading, transportation, and so on. Any one who receives an excessive profit or is convicted of other unfair practices may be punished by a fine or imprisonment.

Altaview School Wins Shield at Track Meet

The first annual track meet of Makapee and surrounding districts was held at Makapee on Friday, June 1, with Grants, Adams Lake, Foxes, Altaview, and Makapee schools participating.

The following is the standing of each school:

1st, Altaview, total, 200 points; average, 8.85; 2nd, Towers, total, 45 points; average, 5.56; 3rd, Makapee, total, 180 points; average, 5.25; 4th, Grants, total, 120 points; average, 5.25; 5th, Adams Lake, total, 120 points; average, 5.45.

The highest individual point winner was Helen Martin, of Makapee, with a total of 35 points.

Donations to the expenses and a chocolate bar for each pupil were made by: C. A. $10.00, O. McCarthy, $10.00, P. Holan, $2.00. Each school district donated $2.00 for a shield to be presented to the school with the highest average number of points.

The winners of the shield this year are the pupils of Altaview, who showed wonderful talent in the sports field.

The sponsors of this meet sincerely hope that this work will be continued by future teachers to the playground facilities of benevolent nature.

"Trage." Everyone is cordially invited. There is also a good church service.

The following young people of Bassano were Sunday visitors in Dunchess: Mr. "Cary" Bernhardt, Miss, Miss, Mrs. Moore, Lloyd Leonard, Art Henderson, and Fred Hanson.

Mr. and Mrs. Connie Giam are visiting Earl Chant and family.

Little Shirley Chant has been visiting in Calgary with relatives.

The Ladies' Aid had postponed their monthly meeting on account of the muddy roads.

Sacrosanct Offerings

Before beginning his sermon, one Sunday evening a certain minister said that he was sorry to have to make a protest and an appeal. "It is last Sunday's collections," he said, "there were no fewer than six buttons. I hope such a thing will not occur again."

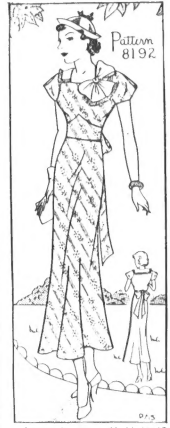

Then, turning to the Bible, he announced the text: "Read your hearts and not your garments."

The sleeves and long square collar and have are not only very becoming, but they are also very practical, for the entire dress is entirely in keeping with the gay and light clothes so desirable during the warm season.

A figured voile would be first choice in the selection of material with organically cut, low, and possible the sash, the that could be made of the dress material.

Pattern 8223. Pleated ending is fashion's newest way of making you look feminine and in this model it accents the square neckline and the graceful sleeves.

The making of this dress is easy for there are few pleats in it and no tricks of sewing or finishing to confuse the beginner, but the result is most charming, cool and becoming.

It could be done in pleated, or veiled with machine (rills of pleated organza or chiffon.

Designed in sizes: 14, 16, 18 and 20; 32, 34, 36, 38. Size 18. Size 20 requires 4 1/2 yards of 39 inch material with 2 1/2 yards of machine pleated material.

Pattern 8223. The classical apron frock is here relieved of its severity by the addition of ruffling around the revers, back of neck and front opening. If also has another feminine touch in its slashed and puffed sleeves and contrasting pocket.

Any of these variations make this an unusual design, becoming and practical.

Household Hints
Keep a small horseshoe magnet with your pins and needles. Use the magnet when you have to pick up several needles at a time. It is much simpler than picking each one up by itself.

To give old silk dresses a new appearance, sponge them with gum arabic water and press them on the wrong side. The gum arabic should be dissolved in hot water.

Here is a cleaning fluid that is used by professional cleaners. One half ounce ammonia, one half ounce alcohol, one ounce each of chloroform, ether and borax mixed together in a gallon of gasoline. Use this mixture frequently to clean the inside of your car. It is easy to rub with the hands. Apply undiluted borax to any bad spots as though the borax were soap. The odor of this mixture disappears quickly.

To avoid the unpleasant odor that dogs frequently acquire, soak them in hot water to which has been added a little ammonia.

When you are sending clothes to the cleaner, search for the bad spots that might escape the attention of the cleaners and outline them in white thread. The thread will call the cleaner's attention to the spot, and it can be easily removed when the clothes are returned.

Take your stuffed papers in mud. In this instead of the usual newspaper clippings. They'll keep their shape much better.

A cheap and excellent cleaner for removing grease and oil spots and other stains from clothing is a simple mixture of soap bark and water.

Printed linen would be pretty in this design, or a polka dot batiste, white or light green with red dots and white revers and ruffling.

Designed in sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 38 requires 3 1/2 yards of 35 inch material with 1 yard contrasting.

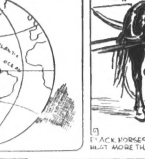

Pattern 8224. The frock pictured here is exactly right for almost any occasion and will be chosen by the larger woman both for its soft, attractive style and its slenderizing effect.

One could develop this dress in a black and white printed silk, or in dark blue or brown sheer crepe with pastel tones for revers and sleeve ruffles.

Designed in sizes: 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50, and 52. Size 40 requires 4 1/2 yards of 39 inch material with 1 yard contrasting.

Water. Soap bark at less than 25 cents a pound can be purchased at any drug store. Use about a tablespoonful to a half pint of water. Moisten a rag and rub the spot until it disappears. This is cheaper than gasoline, has no odor and it isn't inflammable.

A professor was in the habit of letting his dog sit by the side of his chair at meals. One evening when he was out at dinner, the lady next to him, wishing to attract his attention, gently touched his sleeve.

To the consternation of all present he mechanically transferred a bone from his plate and said, "Oh, get away! Take this out on the mat and eat it."

A red spotted rash appearing on top of what has been thought to be a common cold, lasting for a week or so, is likely measles. This, however, is not always the case because a red spotted rash may and does occur in other diseases, such as small pox, for example.

Measles was known to the ancient world; we find it described in the earliest of medical writings. Today it is known throughout the civilized world as a children's disease. All are susceptible to measles, and ex-posure likely occurs early in life, particularly among residents of confined areas, the disease is even more frequently in children, although it is by no means uncommon among adults.

During the world war, it was noted that men brought into military camps from rural areas frequently brought the disease previously absent in battalions from the cities, living in the same camps, escaped the disease, these latter had previously had had measles as children. Second attacks of measles do occur, but they are comparatively rare.

The specific cause of measles is one of the most readily spread of the communicable diseases, and it is difficult to control because it is infectious before the rash appears.
When the running nose, influenza like, and the fever are over, he is believed to be a common cold.

The younger the child, the more serious is the attack of measles. The younger the child, the greater the likelihood is there that the attack will be fatal or that it will be followed by serious complications. It is for these reasons that parents should exercise every reasonable precaution to protect their younger child from the common belief that every child must have measles, and the sooner the better, is fraught with grave danger and leads to much suffering and wastage of money among young lives. To postpone the occurrence of measles until the child is at least five years old should be the aim of all who are responsible for safeguarding the health of children.

Practically, this means that the child who has what appears to be a cold, or who is indisposed, should be kept away from other children.
The best place for such a child is in bed, this both in his own interests and for the welfare of others. Neglected cases lead to serious trouble.
Measles and other complaints begin as ordinary colds.

During the past few years, no have learned that the blood of patients who have recovered from measles human convalescent serum—will, when injected, confer a temporary immunity or resistance to measles in the person injected. In the absence of convalescent serum, the whole blood of the parents is used, for as children, will rarely have had the disease. Both methods are safe and valuable in protecting temporarily the young or sickly child who has been exposed to the disease.

Because measles so often leaves a trail of damage, the child who has recovered should be examined several months after recovery, to ensure that any damage may be found and treated.

WHEAT

World Wheat Price Prospects.
The world wheat picture can change very rapidly. Climate plays such an important part in wheat production that any prediction is at best uncertain. It would appear more likely, however, that the volume of wheat produced in the world this year will not be large. The weather of the next four weeks will be the principal factor in deciding market trends for the forthcoming year.

Wheat authorities throughout the world place a considerable dependence upon the statistics presented by the Food Research Bureau of the Stanford University and the opinion expressed in surveys issued by that institution. The latest survey issued about a week ago, is not very hopeful of rapid or large increases in the price of wheat during the next three months. We present a resume of the survey for perusal on its merits. It says: "Wheat stocks continue to be heavy and so unfavorably distributed that international wheat prices in the next three months seem likely to decline unless crop prospects should become still worse." The survey points out the smallness of world trade world wheat disappearances have had the effect of depleting world stocks only about 35 million bushels below last year's peak and the anticipation is expressed of that when the crop year commences on August 1st next, world wheat stocks will only be about 25 million below last year's peak. The survey forecasts world trade for the year as only 535 million bushels or 25 million less than the estimate made by the International Wheat Conference.

The Bureau estimates the world wheat carry-over as at August 1, 1934, at 1,727,000,000 as compared with 1,844,000,000 for August 1, 1933.
The large part of the reduction in wheat exports is attributable to a lessing of world wheat prices over last year in the previous year and in spite of United States efforts to furnish wheat on credit. The decline was due to increased Chinese wheat supplies and the imposition of tariff duties on wheat and flour. The ex-Export committee during the first 29 weeks of the crop year took only 9 million bushels of wheat compared with 134 million for the same period in the previous year and the high mark of 132 millions for 1929-30.

In its forecast of the probable 1934 world wheat crop the survey bases its figures on the condition of weather conditions from May to harvest will be average. Of course bad weather has developed during the month in North America, in Russia and in parts of Europe. The estimated yield as at May 1 is 3,400,000, or 100,000 less than the 3,500,000 estimated. Last year it was 3,529, 000,000 bushels.

In its comment on its outlook for prices, the survey remarks that even in the event of such damage to wheat crops in North America, as occurred in 1932, a Liverpool price advance such as that of last year appears improbable and Chicago September wheat is unlikely to go within the of the peak reached in July, 1933.

The central feature of the price situation is the continental horizon of a surplus too large to be removed by natural crop shortages such as may occur in 1934. Scarcely prices in 1934-35 are beyond the range of reasonable possibility, the survey states.
Referring to the International Wheat Agreement, the survey says that continued efforts to improve the wheat situation through the agreement may bring constructive action or may merely approach the point before the end of the current season. Prediction is made that Argentina will be allowed an increase of her quota to 140 million bushels.

NOTE: Recent weather conditions in North America and Europe may make more drastic crop reductions than the survey anticipates. Russia is reported to be acquiring for wheat and flour in Australia.

COOPERATION AND SURVIVAL

SYNOPSIS
I have read the stories of many miracles, but none of them was lacking the miracle of the survival of the fittest. How, and in what manner, and why the most defensible of all mankind should have been able to maintain himself against meanness, and so and heat and microbes and eventually become master of all creations, is something I shall not try to solve in the present article.
Of one thing, however, is certain. If never could have accomplished all this alone.

In order to succeed, he was obliged to seek his individuality in the community character of the tribe.
Argentina Vearing Quota Limit Argentina shipped over 2,300,000 bushels of wheat last week, leaving but very few million to fulfill her quota of 110,000,000 bushels. Possibly the quota will be completed this week. The Canadian government exported 100,000 bushels of wheat to Argentina on April 29th that country had a surplus of 129,245,000 bushels still available for export and carryover. It seems quite obvious that Argentina will exceed her quota. To what extent it is now impossible to say.

Australian Average Down The Australian wheat average for the 1934 crop is estimated by the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome, as 12,600,000. Last year average was 12,600,000, and the five-year average from 1927-31, 12,600, 000. This is the lowest average under wheat in Australia since 1927.

U. S. Spring Wheat Production of spring wheat in the United States last year totalled 128 million bushels. Current estimates this year's production are below that figure, some going as low as 120 million. There is a possibility that the United States total wheat crop will be little larger than last year when the total was 227 million bushels.

Europe Experiences Drought Dry weather and high temperatures prevailed in the Danube Basin from the middle of March to the middle of May, according to Foreign Crops and Markets. The High-water office of the U. S. D. A. estimates that the four Basin countries—Hungary, Poland, Rumania and Yugoslavia—will produce one of the smallest wheat crops on record this year and will have little or no export surplus.

Winter killing and deficient manure has damaged crops in most sections of Germany and Czechoslovakia in Poland and European Russia have also suffered from drought and the Baltic countries report grain are needed. Crop conditions in Italy are poor, but not bad below a year ago the Russian grain crop is considerably fairly good although comparatively low at the same date a year ago. Good crops are expected in Spain and Greece.

Government Crop Report
The federal government's report on crop conditions in Western Canada, issued May 29, shows a serious situation due to drought, wind and grasshoppers. Precipitation since April 1 has been meagre and the crop has had a poor start. Last year at

THE HOMEMAKER
By Fay Inchman
A man found the cave, so I fancy, and wouldn't it be his desire But I rather think 'twas a woman Who did the first fire.

The man put a head to his shanty, And kept the wind howling from his store.
The woman took care that the red firelight

Strained the truth from at the door.
The man built a house with a chimney.

He made it of strong bricks and stone,
And a little frail bit of a corner Turned it into a home.

Thus time the crop was late but in good condition.

Today and Tomorrow

by Frank Parker Stockbridge

CAPITALISM defined
People speak of capitalism as if it were some sort of an organized plan imposed upon people unable to help themselves. Capitalism is merely a name for the system which has grown naturally out of mankind's ability to produce a surplus of wealth, beyond immediate needs. Capital is nothing but wealth not required for productive use at the moment. Every man who has a claim to a savings bank and does not need it is as much a capitalist as a millionaire is.

Capital is destroyed only when it is consumed by individuals. It is not lost when it is invested in permanent things, like buildings and railroads. The individuals who invested may live, but the building remains. The outcry against capitalism is not really aimed at the system, which is the only system under which real wealth ever accumulates, but against individuals who divert too high a proportion of their temporary share of the world's capital to non-social uses.

SOCIALISM State-owned Stripped of all its sophomoric embellishments, the essence of Socialism is not the abolition of capital, but the ownership of all capital by the State. The tendency in that direction has been growing stronger for more than a hundred years. Paving a toll for every traveller or separate highways and bridges, charge capital used to build and operate that need them. Large glass-enclosed enterprises, because investments of public capital.

Agriculture, fishing, mining and manufacturing are still in the hands of private capital. The complete Socialist program would make all of these functions of the State.

REGULATION U.S. Aim
What we seem to be heading for in the United States is a compromise between uncontrolled private capitalism and complete Socialism. The compromise is the continuance of private capitalism under State regulation. We have had that in the case of railroads for fifty years. It seems to be close at hand in the matter of telegraph, telephone and radio communications.

At the same time, there is an increasing tendency to apply Social capital to long term enterprises which do not promise a direct return in dividends, but which are perhaps justified on their social value. This includes such things as parks, many classes of highways, public buildings, and similar enterprises. Private capital is being held in these non-productive ventures.
